Custom-tailored keyboards at factory-to-you prices.

At MICRO SWITCH, 99% of our keyboard production is built to individual customer specifications. To date, we haven't found any application too unique.

When you need a keyboard, immediately there are thousands of decisions that have to be made. For example, what's the right button? Or array? Or which switch module is correct?

The answers require an expert. MICRO SWITCH realizes this and has developed a team of factory-based Application Engineers. Each is a specialist in custom tailoring keyboards to meet your individual requirements. Domestic and international. One of them is ready to assist you at any time. And once your specifications are worked out, a special design team will lay it all out to exactly meet your needs.

Actually, all of this is a lot more economical than it sounds. And the resulting savings are passed on at factory-to-you prices.

Call, write or visit your MICRO SWITCH Branch Office for more information. But only if you demand a keyboard that's right on the button.
